

Nantong Zhonghao Adhesive Products Co.,Ltd is located in Rugao, Jiangsu province which is known as one of the world's longevity town. Our company mainly produces high-end butyl waterproof tape and distribute other types of tape such as PVC electrical tape, fiberglass tape and aluminium tape which are widely used in construction, automotive, communications, electricity, container, glass and other industries. By continuously improving the production process and updating equipment, our product quality and production capacity have been increasing steadily. Now we have adopted international advanced production technology and have innovated new butyl waterproof sealing materials. So far, the 1.0-meter-wide butyl tape with base material in the middle of it which has been in volume production has filled the gaps in the industry. The products of our company have passed industry standard tests, ROHS certification and MSDS certification. Our products are currently sold well in North America, Europe, the Middle East, Australia and other countries and regions.

Our company adheres to the belief that quality decides future and service decides everything. We aim to establish long-term and orderly factory and provide high quality and stable products. We warmly welcome domestic and foreign business partners to negotiate and cooperate with us. And we hope we can share mutual development and bright future together!
